

Production Plus is a fast-growing company and well established with over 35 years in business. We're based in Hertfordshire and supply technical production to corporate events all over the UK (mainly London), Europe, USA and EMEA. Our portfolio of clients is growing at a great pace and as such we have several positions available at various levels competence.

This role:

To engineer the live audio and manage the video content on live events. This will involve early mornings, late nights and some weekends but you will be working in the exciting and challenging arena of live production. You will be able to go to places and do things most people can only imagine!! Ditch that boring 9 to 5 job and become part of a team that deliver industry leading events.

We're looking for someone who can/ is:

- Well-presented and confident in engaging with others
- Ability to listen, learn and understand
- Have a working knowledge of audio and video
- Be positive, enthusiastic, presentable
- Flexible with their working hours to suit the live events industry
- Fluent in spoken and written English have a grasp of basic numeracy
- Must have a full UK driving licence (6 points max)

Your day to day responsibilities will include:

- Prepping and de-prepping of technical equipment (Sound/Lighting/Video)
- Rigging shows with other technicians and senior technicians
- Operating shows as part of a team
- De-rigging shows
- Ensure you and others around you work in a safe environment

Production Plus is a passionate company, privately owned and employs 50+ full time staff. We're as dedicated to our staff as we are our clients and offer:

- Salary – competitive for the right person
- Four weeks' holiday + bank holidays
- Overpayments into a pension scheme (If applicable)
- The ability to progress

Please send your CV and covering email to recruitment@productionplus.co.uk

Subject field: AV Technician

Please contact Julian Rees on 01462 684 001 for more information

These positions are available for immediate start.

